Vent-A-Hood Celebrates Best Quarter in Company's History

Richardson, Texas – Vent-A-Hood, the company that created the modern residential range hood, announced its best quarter in the company's 70-year history. From April-June, the luxury range hood manufacturer filled the most orders for stock and custom-made products at its plant in Richardson, Texas.

"We're having a fantastic year," said Blake Woodall, director of sales. "People continue to invest in their homes, and Vent-A-Hood continues to be a brand they demand for their kitchens."

With remodeling season in full swing, Woodall said Vent-A-Hood previously marked a record-setting first quarter before surpassing those numbers last month. Through a network of nationwide distributors, Woodall added that he does not see orders slowing down any time soon.

"Consumers are getting serious about their kitchen appliances, and more cooking power requires more ventilation power," Woodall said. "As the trend continues for professional-grade ranges, the demand for Vent-A-Hoods remains huge."

The company announced plans to add 50,000 sq. ft. to its manufacturing plant, which will accommodate the growing production line and skilled craftsmen. Vent-A-Hood is also test-marketing online product orders through a few key distributors.
