Vent-A-Hood Launches Web Purchasing System for Distributors Nationwide

Richardson, Texas – Vent-A-Hood, the company that created the modern residential range hood, has launched a secure Vent-A-Hood Web Purchasing System for all Vent-A-Hood distributors across the United States and in Canada.

According to Blake Woodall, director of marketing for Vent-A-Hood, the online ordering feature will reduce paperwork and save time on pricing and fulfilling the vast majority of orders that the company receives each year.

“We have streamlined the process to receive, fulfill and deliver orders of our luxury hoods at a much faster and more efficient rate with our proprietary online ordering system,” said Woodall. “After a record-setting year for our manufacturing plant, this will allow us to continue to meet the increasing demand for our products in the marketplace.”

Woodall expects the Web Purchasing System to be used for 75 percent of all range hood orders on models in current production. The company will continue to handle custom orders off-line on an individual basis.

Vent-A-Hood successfully tested the online ordering process with three of its 17 distributors in the summer and now has made the feature available to the entire network.

“The Internet continues to allow manufacturers to do great things in meeting and exceeding market demands,” Woodall said. “I expect all of our distributors to take full advantage of the Web Purchasing System to streamline communications, to maintain real-time tracking of orders and to aid in the efficiency of Vent-A-Hood production.”
