Vent-A-Hood Expands Quick Ship Program

Richardson, Texas – Vent-A-Hood, the company that created the modern residential range hood, has expanded its Quick Ship program, guaranteeing delivery of selected products within all hood categories to arrive within four weeks or less.

The Quick Ship program, which has been in operation for the last two years on a limited number of hoods, now includes products in the undercabinet, wall mount, island and liner categories.

“We now offer something in every one of our manufacturing categories for quick shipping that suits many of our high-volume standard hood orders,” said Blake Woodall, Director of Sales for Vent-A-Hood. Woodall said the program represents the latest of many changes at the Vent-A-Hood manufacturing plant that has allowed the company to operate more efficiently and continue to break production records.

Certified Vent-A-Hood distributors can access the Quick Ship delivery program through their normal purchasing activities with the company.

Custom range hoods and special orders are handled separately, Woodall said.

About Vent-A-Hood:

Founded in 1933, Vent-A-Hood, based in Richardson, Texas, is the oldest manufacturer of residential range hoods in America.
