Vent-A-Hood Reintroduces “The Classic” and “Model A” Vintage Designs To Commemorate Company’s 75th Anniversary

RICHARDSON, Texas – Vent-A-Hood, the company that created the modern residential range hood, has unveiled two vintage range hood designs being offered in conjunction with the company’s 75th anniversary of its products. “The Classic” and “Model A” are a limited-edition series, paying tribute to retrospective styles that helped make Vent-A-Hood a household name and introduced indoor kitchen cooking ventilation to homes across America.

“These designs made Vent-A-Hood an icon brand,” said Blake Woodall, director of sales for Vent-A-Hood. “In fact, we still encounter our earlier designs on occasion with the most fantastic stories from customers.

“By reissuing The Classic and Model A designs with our most advanced Magic Lung® blower, we are blending the best of past tradition and style with the foremost technology available on the market today,” Woodall said. “This anniversary series is the ultimate compliment to the history of our company.”

Each design was updated to meet the engineering, manufacturing and performance standards that Vent-A-Hood demands of all products today.

The Classic, in standard painted finishes, is available in 30-inch to 48-inch standard widths with 300 – 1200 CFM from the patented Magic Lung blower. Prices range from $671 - $1,696. Special widths and paint colors are available at an additional charge. The model number is CLH9.

The Model A, also in standard painted finishes, is available in 30-inch to 48-inch standard widths with 300 – 600 CFM from the patented Magic Lung blower. Prices range from $1,035 - $1,487 not including painted duct work. Special widths and paint colors are available at an additional charge. The model number is AH12.
