Vent-A-Hood Named Preferred Vendor by Ferguson

RICHARDSON, Texas – Vent-A-Hood, the company that created the modern residential range hood, has been named a “preferred” vendor by Ferguson, one of the country’s largest distributors of lighting, appliances, plumbing supplies and other remodeling materials.

“Within Ferguson showrooms throughout the country, this will give Vent-A-Hood range hoods top status in front of a growing national audience looking for the finest products and craftsmanship available,” said Skip Woodall, president and CEO of Vent-A-Hood. “This agreement answers a critical demand for consumers who are making their single largest investment, existing homes, evolve for their growing needs.”

The announcement partners America’s oldest range hood manufacturer with a retail supplier that includes more than 1,400 service centers across the U.S., the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Mexico and the Caribbean.

Ferguson, which has sales of more than $11.2 billion, will work with Vent-A-Hood’s distributors to offer range hoods in a variety of styles including wall mount, under cabinet, island and liner insert designs.

A family-owned business for more than 75-years, Vent-A-Hood is famous for its proprietary technology and the patented Magic Lung® blower system that offers the only residential cooking ventilation on the market that prevents fire from spreading to the rest of the home. A made-in-America manufacturer, Vent-A-Hood will provide its Quick Ship products as well as the services of its award-winning custom division to offer the most recognized brand in range hoods to Ferguson’s customers.
